ADAMS SWORN IN FOR THIRD TERM AS RICHLAND COUNTY TREASURER

(Columbia, SC) Richland County Treasurer David A. Adams was sworn in for a third term in a small ceremony at the Richland County Administration building on Friday afternoon. With his wife and children, Adams was given the oath by his Citadel classmate Solicitor Dan Johnson.

In the next four years as Richland County Treasurer, Adams plans to continue expanding payment options to help people best meet their tax obligations, continue improving his office's efficiency and effectiveness, and finding the tax cheaters who cheat us all. He also intends to work with the County to establish a satellite office so that citizens can more conveniently conduct their business with Richland County.
